The President believes the governments of France and the other powers will see in the reserves we have here made no obstacle to the initiation of negotiations on the lines suggested and he hopes it will be found practicable to begin such negotiations at an early day.

ORDERED TO START YESTERDAY.

Tien Tsin, October 9.—General Von Waldersee, commanding the allied forces, has issued orders to the Pao Ting Fu expedition to depart on the eleventh. The expedition consists of a mixed force of 600 British, German, French and Italian. The force will leave Tien Tsin, and will connect near Pao Ting Fu with a column of the same strength from Peking under command of General Gaselee. Four battalions of French troops which left Yang Tsung on October 4, on an independent expedition, have been halted and ordered to await the arrival of the main force. The Americans, Russians and the Japanese are not participating in the movement. Despite Chinese assurances to the contrary the commanders of the forces ordered to advance expect resistance.

REBELLION BREAKS OUT.

Shanghai, October 11.—Sheng, the Taotai, has received a telegram from Gen. Su, reporting that a serious rebellion has broken out in the southwestern part of Kwang Si province, that his 30,000 troops are inadequate and that he needs at least 100,000 to cope with the danger which is directed against the Manchus and threatens to become worse than the Tai Ping rebellion. It is reported that the Yang Tse viceroys have sent 20,000 troops to Pao Ting Fu to suppress the rebellion.

KWANG SU WON'T RETURN.

Berlin, October 11.—Count Von Waldersee, an official telegram announces, will start for Peking from Tien Tsin next Saturday. The Germans are awaiting reinforcements at Tien Tsin before undertaking further measures. They have effected telegraphic communication between Tien Tsin and Peking.

The semi-official press today admits that there is no further doubt regarding the reported removal of the imperial court to Si-Ngan-Fu. This admission is accompanied by a declaration that Emperor Kwang Su's return to Peking is now highly improbable, although his presence there is "absolutely necessary to effect lasting peace."

The Freshing Zeitung has placed itself on record as believing that "all that is requisite for enforcing public security."

Chi Li could be done by the chief of police of Berlin instead of Count Von Waldersee.

A number of jingo papers viciously attack this statement.

GEN. BRAGG FOR MCKINLEY.

A Leading Wisconsin Democrat on the Stump.

Milwaukee, Wis., October 11.—General Edward B. Bragg, a life long Democrat who served several terms in Congress and was minister to Mexico under President Cleveland, tonight addressed a distinguished audience that filled the Pabst theatre. He spoke in response to a call signed by a number of gold Democrats. All shades of political parties were represented at the meeting. The General, who spoke as a gold Democrat, advocated the election of McKinley and Roosevelt. He was given a great ovation. He dwelt at length on the money question and criticized Mr. Bryan throughout.

UNITARIAN CONFERENCE.

Lax Enforcement of the Prohibitory Law Decried.

Waterville, October 11.—The third and last day of the Maine Unitarian conference was devoted to devotional exercises and business meeting. During the latter session votes of thanks were passed to the railroad and the members of the first Unitarian church of this city. A resolution was adopted deploring the lax enforcement of the prohibitory law and affirming the duty of the church in this regard and recommending the appointment of a committee by the conference which shall devise some method by which the conference may assist in making the existing condition better.

MINISTRY GAINS TWO.

London, October 12.—3 a. m.—In the pollings in the parliamentary general election yesterday, the ministerialists gained two seats making their total gains thirty against twenty-nine for the opposition.

The constitution of the new house thus far is as follows: Ministerialists, 374; Opposition, 238. As yet there has been no Ministerial gain in Wales and no Liberal gain in Scotland.

CONNECTICUT'S POPULATION.

Washington, October 11.—The population of the state of Connecticut as officially announced by the census bureau today is 908,355. In 1890 the population was 749,393. The census for this year showed an increase 129,962 or 17.2 per cent.

FOR FREE SILVER.

Mr. Bryan Makes Explicit Statement.

Addresses Audience at Ann Arbor.

The Meeting Somewhat Disturbed by Students.

Interrupted Speaker by Questions.

One Brought Out Declaration on Currency.

Ann Arbor, Mich., October 11.—There was a wildly wild time this afternoon when Mr. Bryan came to Ann Arbor. The students of the state university were at the meeting in large numbers and each one made his presence felt. A platform had been erected on the south side of the court house building and the entire side of the square as well as the adjoining street, was covered with a solid mass of humanity, a majority of those nearest the stand being students.

Mr. Bryan had no sooner shown his face than the boys began a clamor which did not cease for ten or fifteen minutes. Even after Mr. Bryan advanced to the front of the stand, the din continued but it ultimately subsided sufficiently to allow him to begin.

"I am glad to talk to you," he began "if you are willing to listen."

A few voices responded: "We are willing."

"If I were an Imperialist," Mr. Bryan went on, "I would call out an army to suppress you, but I am not." This salley seemed to please the young men and most of them laughed and cheered. Some of them jeered to such an extent, however, that an officer was compelled to enter the crowd and arrest several of the noisiest. After this, while the interruptions were frequent they generally took the shape of questions. One of the questions brought out the explicit declaration from Mr. Bryan:

"The Democratic party is for the free coinage of silver at the rate of 16 to 1 without waiting for the aid or consent of any other nation." By the time Mr. Bryan concluded the confusion had ceased entirely and he closed amid cheers.

At the time of the arrest of some of the students at Ann Arbor, Mr. Bryan's attention was not called to the fact and he did not know of it until after the close of the meeting. When informed of what had been done, he immediately sent a letter to Hon. M. J. Cavanaugh of Ann Arbor asking that they be released.

MANILA COURTS.

Scandalous Administration by Filipino Magistrates.

Manila, Saturday, October 6, via Hong Kong, October 11.—The administration of Manila's civil courts by Filipino magistrates, which has long been scandalous, is now attracting public attention more than ever and has been brought to the Taft commission's attention with requests for rectification. The courts are composed of four justices of the peace and four primary courts. The magistrates are all Filipinos and developments have proved that the incumbents are utter failures as administrators of justice. Charges have been filed and evidence is in the hands of the authorities which it is claimed, will show that the magistrate has been guilty of the grossest corruption and malfeasance in office. One magistrate was recently suspended on suspicion of criminal abuse of power and attempt to defraud. The monthly collection of fines of the native justices is estimated at $6,000. The amount collected by the primary courts for the same period is much greater. The eight magistrates persistently ignore the regulations established by the authorities for the supervision of commitments, and the accountability of money. They deposit less than a hundred dollars monthly and are alleged to appropriate the balance of their collections. It is further claimed that the magistrates are in collusion with the native police in compromising offenses on the basis of "cash for freedom," and that in many instances magistrates who committed men to jail over a year ago are now liberating them without trial, the explanation being the effectiveness of a habeas corpus and the designation of a special officer to investigate the cases, resulting in the freedom of many persons illegally committed as prisoners.

Serious charges of favoritism have lately been made against the civil branch of Manila's supreme court.

The members of the Taft commission are disgusted with the condition of the courts and intend to substitute honest Americans from the United States for the native magistrates.

TO MAYOR OF GARDINER.

Good Templars Request That Liquor Saloons Be Closed.

Gardiner, October 11.—The Grand lodge of Good Templars at the close of their session today passed with others the following resolution:

Resolved, That as an order we thoroughly believe in the enforcement of our prohibitory law, and we stand ready to oppose any man, or any organization, political or otherwise that favor re-submission of our temperance laws to the people. Our motto: "Down with the saloons in Maine."

The committee on enforcement reported the following:

That the grand lodge send the following notice to the mayor and city marshal of Gardiner:

To the Hon. Mayor and City Marshal of Gardiner:

We, the Grand lodge of Maine, I. O. G. T., in convention assembled, learn with deep regret that there are 16 or more places in your city where the law against the sale of intoxicating liquors is daily being violated and we respectfully request that such places be closed or the keepers thereof be made to respect the laws of our state.

We recommend that the Grand lodge instruct its secretary to write to the sheriff of Kennebec county, asking that the laws be enforced throughout the county.

We also recommend that each district lodge appoint a committee to look after gambling machines and other violations of the laws against morality, and bring complaints when necessary.

POLICE AND CAVALRY.

An Encounter Between Cubans and Americans at Matanzas.

Havana, October 11.—At Matanzas yesterday a Cuban policeman interfered with two members of the Second United States cavalry. The quarrel culminated in a general fight between the police and soldiers who arrived upon the scene simultaneously.

After the police had shot Trooper Turley of D troop, one other soldier and one civilian, a number of troopers of D troop tried to break into the gun room to get their weapons, but the quick action of Captain Frederick M. Foits of D troop, in forming troops L and M, in skirmish order, made it impossible for the excited cavalrymen to pass. Lieut. Willard is said to have been slightly hurt while endeavoring to quiet the men.

The troopers declare that they will have revenge and Col. Henry E. Noyes has ordered all confined to the barracks. The feeling is very strong between the Cubans and cavalrymen. The authorities here look upon the incident as a pay day fight but an investigation has been ordered.

CONDITION OF BANKS.

Washington, October 11.—The Comptroller of the currency has completed an abstract of the reports of the condition of all the national banks in the United States at the close of business September 8, 1900.

The summary shows that the aggregate loans and discounts of the banks were $2,686,759,640 and the aggregate individual deposits $2,507,243,557.

A comparison of these figures with the condition June 30, 1900, the date of the previous call, shows that during the period between June and September, there was an increase $93,247,439 in loans and discounts and $43,156,792, in individual deposits.

The number of banks reporting on June 30, was 3,732, and the number reporting on September 8 was 3,872, an increase of 140. The work of compiling the returns from the mutual savings institutions of the country has recently been completed, which shows that during the year ended June 30, 1900, the aggregate resource of these institutions has increased $186,743,300; the deposits in the banks have risen in amount from $1,906,704,131 on June 30, 1899 to $2,134,471,130 on June 30 of the current year, an increase of $178,767,999.

The number of depositors in these mutual savings banks increased during the year from 5,079,733 to 5,870,109 and the average deposits from $383.93 to $397.47.

KRUGER WON'T CROSS FRANCE.

Paris, October 11.—It is semi-officially denied here that the French government has been approached on the subject of the suggested disembarkation of former President Kruger at Marseilles whence he could cross France to The Hague. On the contrary, it is added, Mr. Kruger is expected to land directly in Holland.

AND THE FLOODS CAME.

Unprecedented Rain Fall in East.

Trains Stalled on C. P. Between Vaneboro and St. John.

New Brunswick Province Resembles Lake.

Washington Co. Railway Trains Cancelled.

St. John, N. B., October 11.—The entire province of New Brunswick resembles a lake. At 9 o'clock tonight it had rained steadily 10 hours and ten inches had fallen. Not a train is moving on the C. P. R., between St. John and Vaneboro or on the branch lines of the road to St. Andrews, St. Stephen, Fredericton or Woodstock. The cause is an aggregation of washouts caused by the rain which has fallen steadily since Tuesday night. Streams which cross the road have been so swollen that culverts which have been carried the freshets off 25 years have this time proved inadequate and the water has overflowed. A bridge at Hoyt on the main line was damaged, its abutment being swept from under it. Between St. John and Vaneboro and including the C. P. R., branch lines, there are 25 washouts, the greatest being near St. John, where there are two 150 feet long and 35 feet deep. Conditions are the worst which have existed in the road's history and as the rain still falls steadily tonight, there may be even more damage. Thousands of dollars are represented in the damage already done and in loss of traffic. Only one train got over the road from St. John this morning, the Boston express. The trains from Montreal and Boston, due here at noon are stalled with passengers and mails at Greenpoint, and Fredericton Junction, respectively. The mails from St. John for Upper Canada, the United States and Great Britain were sent out today by I. C. R. R., and will be distributed from Montreal. It is hoped to get the Montreal and Boston trains on the Canadian Pacific railroad out from here tomorrow afternoon, but if the rain keeps on it may be Sunday before traffic is restored.

Some damage has been done on the shore line and the I. C. R. R., but it is not large.

GREATEST FOR YEARS.

Eastport, October 11.—The rainfall during the 24 hours ending at noon was 5.25 inches, the greatest recorded by the weather bureau here since July, 1883 when 5.38 inches fell. During one heavy squall this morning a quarter of an inch of rain fell in five minutes. The total fall since the storm began is seven inches. The rain was accompanied by a high northeast wind, and so damage was done in many ways. Trains are delayed and washouts are quite numerous.

WASHOUTS CALAIS WAY.

Calais, October 11.—The downfall of rain during the past 24 hours has wrought great change to the water course hereabout. On Friday, the St. Croix river was so low that many mills were unable to run. Tonight, the river is 18 inches in freshet, and washouts and landslides are reported from points above here on both banks. Trains on both the Washington county and Canadian Pacific railroads have been cancelled in this section as damage to the roadbed is feared.

No mails came into the city during the day, but it is expected that one or more trains will come in tomorrow.

The rain while needed badly has now come with such force as to damage quite extensively.

LEXINGTON RACES.

Lexington, Ky., October 11.—When the bell rang for the first heat in the 210 trot today the weather was raw and chilly, but the wind gradually died away and the afternoon was comparatively pleasant. There were eight starters for the 210 trot. York Boy won the race in straight heats, but not, however, until he had lost the first two to the great California mare Neerotta, who also gave him a close race in the third.

Contrails, the favorite in the West, took the race right off the reel, leaving the fight for second place between the erratic Annie Burns and the smooth going Ebba. Burns finally getting the second divide of the purse. Empire Wilkes, the favorite for the Lexington two years old trotters, finished third in the first heat and behind the banner in the second. Eirange was the winner in straight heats over Melton who finished second each time.

THE JOSIE FOATED.

Machias, October 11.—The schooner Josie which went ashore on Brownies Island near Jonesport October 8th, was floated and towed from the rocks by the tugs Luce Bros., and S. B. Jones, today. When about two miles from the place where the vessel struck, she filled and rolled over. The tugs were unable to handle the vessel and were compelled to leave her in the thoroughfare where, it is believed, the schooner's masts are fastened in the mud, thus preventing the tugs from moving her. It will probably be necessary to employ a diver to cut the masts away in order to save the hull.

THE WOMEN'S CLUBS.

First Day's Session of State Federation at Rockland.

Rockland, October 11.—The meeting of the State Federation of Women's clubs opened here today. The following delegates from Portland have registered: Mrs. Geo. C. Frye, Mrs. Annie O. Clark, chairman of the educational committee of the Federation; Mrs. F. E. Boothby, all prominent in club and educational work; A. B. C. Kins, Mrs. Eva L. Hooper, president's appointee; Savori Faire, Mrs. F. York, president, Mrs. F. Kendall, delegate; Woman's Literary Union, Mrs. Charles F. Flagg, president, Mrs. Henry W. Noyes, delegate; Mutual Improvement club, Mrs. Frank L. Moseley, president, Mrs. Catherine Bagley, delegate; Ms. Holyoke Seminary association, Mrs. E. S. Osgood, state parliamentarian with delegate; Conklin club, Mrs. P. H. Brown, president, Mrs. E. J. Thompson, delegate; Geo. Killet club, Miss Annie L. Lord, president, Mrs. George W. Swett, delegate.

The federation was called to order at 9 o'clock in the Universalist church which was beautifully decorated. Rev. R. W. Van Kirk, pastor of the First Baptist church opened the meeting with prayer.

Mrs. Annie F. Simmons, president of the Methebesse, welcomed the guests most cordially in behalf of the club women of Rockland. Miss Lucia H. Connor responded. The president's address was a concise review of the year's work and also an affectionate farewell as she goes from this meeting to California to make her home on the Pacific coast.

Miss Kate Furbish's paper, "In the Maine Woods," was an artistic interpretation of the woods all love so well from the standpoint of the earnest student and close observer. The reports of the biennial at Milwaukee were of absorbing interest. The whole country was interested in that session and the business side as reported by Mrs. Philip H. Brown of Portland, was listened to with the closest attention. Mrs. Brown paid a high compliment to the officers for their conduct of that great meeting and was likewise forcibly impressed by the need of some knowledge of parliamentary law in those who are sent as delegates. Time was wasted and legislation defeated because the delegates did not know the force of the previous question or the value of the dependent motions. The social side, by Mrs. Edward P. Kenrick was stereoscopic in its graphic word, painting making us see the flash of diamonds and the pomp and glitter of the assembled beauty of the representative womanhood of America. In dress parade.

The discussion of the New England Federation of clubs, which is still going on is developing no small amount of eloquence.

NOTED WOMEN GAMBLERS.

The Most Famous Were Court Favorites in France and England.

Greatest of all the women gamblers in the world have been the court favorites of the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries. France has produced the finest specimens of the depraved woman gambler that the world has ever seen. At one time Mme. de Montespan had a great run of luck at basnet, and that made Louis XVI feel good, for then he could borrow of her winnings. When her luck turned and she lost as heavily as she had won the duff on Louis got to be so great that he abolished the game. One night when things were coming her way she bet a sum equal to $200,000 on the turn of a single card, and the king got grumpy because no one had the sand to cover the bet. There came a New Year's night when Madame lost nearly $900,000 at hoc, and on another night she raised her losses to $1,000,000.

Crossing the channel, the most famous woman gambler of England was Nell Gwynn, the favorite of Charles II. In one year her losses were $200,000, which the king paid. His last words as he lay on his dying bed were historic, "Don't let poor Nell starve." But "poor Nell," as long as the game was fierce, could look out for herself pretty well. Such a little loss as that of $25,000 to her rival, the Duchess of Cleveland, was a mere bagatelle to her. Still perhaps Charles II was right in his solicitude for "poor Nell," for the Duchess of Mazarin died in absolute want after she had lost $5,000,000 at the game.

One may scour American history and find scarcely a celebrated woman gambler. Our women when they gamble at all play like ladies at cards and dabble a little in stocks. To be sure, we've sent some winners to Monte Carlo and others to Sheephead Bay, but for her who might perhaps be called the queen of American gamblers we are indebted to the chess player in the Mexican blood which produces what the southwest calls the "greaser." Donna Paquita was born in Texas. Everything about her excepting her birthplace was Mexican.

About the close of the civil war Donna went into Mexico to rule over outlaws and cowboys. Qualetoer, an old time gambler, with whom she fell in at the age of 12, taught her all the tricks of the trade that he knew; and then she turned around, and with her newly acquired knowledge she taught him tricks that he never dreamed of.

Though she was only a child, the rough gamblers in Paso del Norte found that they were no match for her. She grew up a beautiful girl, and she could catch so adeptly that no one ever could catch her at it. In 1875 she was the leader of a gang of greasers who were captured after a foray. She proposed that cards be played to see whether she should go free or kill herself. She played for once with a gambler who was too expert for her and lost. Instantly she drew a knife from her belt and plunged it into her heart. At least it may be said for her that none of the gambling favorites of Europe had the nerve to end her life as Donna did.—New York Press.

YOUTSEY NO BETTER.

Georgetown, Ky., October 11.—Reports from Henry Youtsey's sickroom tonight are not encouraging. The only change perceptible is that his stupor is not quite so heavy. Once or twice today he lifted his hands and repeated: "There's no blood on my hands." His physicians fear surely prove fatal.

CHINESE DAY.

At Yesterday's Meeting American Board of Foreign Missions.

St. Louis, Mo., October 11.—This was Chinese day at the meeting of the American board of commissioners for foreign missions. At the morning session Rev. Dr. Judson Smith, one of the foreign secretaries, read a paper on the situation in China. He was followed by a number of missionaries, who passed through the recent persecutions in the northern part of that country. It was notable that their remarks were hopeful and filled with the earnest desire to go back and re-open the work that has been interrupted.

Rev. Dr. Stimson, recording secretary of the American board and pastor of Broadway tabernacle, New York, struck the key note of the meeting when he declared that they were not there for vengeance, nor to say anything in regard to the policy of the government in China. The only question that concerned them was as to who should take the places of the martyred missionaries and continue the work. An open parliament on missions this afternoon led by Rev. John C. Goddard of Salisbury, Ct., a reception given to the delegation by the Congregational club of St. Louis at the First Congregational church and the first annual address this evening of President Capen, were the other features of the day's proceedings. President Capen read a list of remarkable donations to the board for its "Twenty-first Century fund," amounting to $9,000 and gave a brief account of the personality and history of each donor.

The first annual address of Hon. S. B. Capen of Boston as president of the board, was then delivered.

LONSDALE A GOOD LOSER.

He Had Been Up Against a Hard Game, but He Didn't Squeal.

Said a Washington man who does a lot of transatlantic voyaging: "No man can put himself on the back and say to himself that he is too wise to be 'done' by card sharps. I've seen some pretty clever men get their cards on the ocean liners. One of them was Lord Lonsdale, about as clever an all around man as ever climbed over the gangway of a ship, and nobody would ever have fancied that he'd prove himself a 'mark' for professional gamblers."

"At the time Lonsdale first came to the United States he was in the full tide of his rapid career. Amid the uproar over his landing in this country the fact did not leak out that Lonsdale was plucked of $9,000 on the trip over by George Sampson, one of the most notable of the older clique of steamship card sharps. He has since died in Australia, I believe."

"I think Sampson had it in mind to do young Lonsdale when he got aboard at Liverpool. Sampson had been working the steamers for 15 years, and at this time he was a man of 40 or thereabouts. The two men struck up a friendship from the very first day of the voyage, and it was Lonsdale himself who first suggested—as he afterward acknowledged—for he was a manly young chap—the game of draw. Lonsdale had only recently learned the hands at poker, and he had the poker initiate's enthusiasm for the game to an exaggerated extent. Before going any further I ought to say that Sampson always maintained afterward that in his play with Lonsdale he was perfectly on the level."

"Lonsdale and Sampson started the game on the first day out and kept it going almost until the steamer plowed past Sandy Hook. Of course Sampson beat him right along. He made no effort to let young Lonsdale win from him at first. He simply played poker and raked in the young man's money and checks. A lot of us aboard knew Sampson, and those of us who had met young Lonsdale in England got him as soon as the second day out and diplomatically put it to him that he was engaged in a pretty difficult encounter—that, in brief, Sampson was a professional player of cards. For our pains we were told that we were too confoundedly officious."

"At any rate, when the steamer was drawing near the shore, Lonsdale decided that he had had enough. Several of us were in the cardroom when the last hand was played. Sampson had the pot, and Lonsdale scribbled a check on his American banker for the amount he had lost at the sitting. Then he looked up at Sampson for a moment and said:

"Some of my friends here estimate you a bit unkindly, Mr. Sampson."

"How's that?" inquired Sampson coolly. He was a man who never betrayed surprise.

"Well," said Lonsdale, "they maintain that you shirk at cards after you something better than a livelihood."

"I never denied that," replied Sampson calmly.

"In playing with me on this voyage you have employed skill alone?" inquired Lonsdale courteously.

"At your suggestion," replied Sampson, with careful emphasis, "I have played draw poker with you for seven days. I understand the game of draw poker, and I have $9,000 of your money. Do you want it back?"

"That was a magnificent bluff on Sampson's part, you perceive. The young chap, he well knew, would not squeal."

"Oh, if you elect to be insulting," said Lonsdale, flushing hotly, and he rose from the card table and left the room."

"Well, a couple of elderly Englishmen on board who knew Lonsdale and his father before him went to the young fellow and told him that it was perfectly proper and right for him to stop payment on the checks he had given Sampson, who, they told him in so many words, was nothing better than a swindler."

"You will be good enough to mind your own business," replied the hotspur. "I'll do nothing of the sort." And that was the end of it.—Washington Post.

BUT THERE ARE OTHERS.

Some Places Closed But Others Are Still in the Business.

It was stated yesterday that the bottling firm of Ingalls Brothers last night shipped to Boston or otherwise disposed of the last of the stock of goods with which they have been doing business. Murdock and Freeman closed out their goods on Saturday and the other firms have been getting rid of them as fast as possible since that time. For some reason the firm of Ingalls Brothers was not getting rid of their goods fast enough to suit the authorities, and they were given a warning that they must be rid of every bit of their liquors before this morning. Accordingly they managed to do so and the other bottling house, the Kienzi company, has followed suit. The question which was universally asked on the street when these facts became known was "Why is it that this could not have been done a year ago?"

The bar at the Falmouth hotel closed yesterday afternoon and it closed for good. A crew of workmen were busily engaged all of the afternoon in removing the pictures characteristic of jag emporiums and taking away the glasses. It was reported soon after the word of the closing of the bar had been spread, that it was the intention to open up for a third shop. On investigation, however, this was found to be untrue. "We have closed tight," said one of the bar tenders of the hotel last evening, "and shall not again open up. We do not intend to conduct any rum business in or about the hotel."

The bar at the United States hotel was closed up in the afternoon. It was not open last evening and it is said that this hotel intends to follow the policy of the Falmouth.

At Smith's hotel the bar has been closed since Saturday. But there are others.

The police, headed by Deputy Marshal Chenery broke the record last night, and instead of two seizures made three. They got a little beer and some other stuff at 517 Fore street, corner of Centre in a place kept by a man named Feeney. They also made a seizure at Tom O'Neill's at 118 Centre street and at Patrick F. O'Connell's at 49 Washington street.

CRAZED BY LOVE.

A Brewer Man Shoots a 10-Year-Old Girl and Kills Himself.

Bangor, October 11.—Jos. Wilson of South Brewer, aged 21, employed in the mill of the Eastern Manufacturing company there, this forenoon at about 10:40 o'clock shot Annie Woods of Mill Lane, South Brewer, aged 16, and then committed suicide. This tragedy was the result of an unrequited passion manifested by the suicide toward the girl.

She is seriously wounded in the hips and abdomen, but will recover. He died instantly after a shot from his own revolver.

Wilson had been keeping company with the girl who, is a young woman of thoroughly good reputation, the daughter of Charles Woods of South Brewer. Mr. Woods objected to Wilson, who was then boarding in his house, and the man left there, and went to live in the mill boarding house, where he was registered at the time of the tragic incident.

"I will have the girl dead or alive," Wilson was heard to say on more than one occasion. He was unremitting in his attention in spite of opposition on the part of her parents. She liked him in a friendly way, but rejected his protestations of affection and discouraged his proposals of marriage.

Of late the girl has been nursing a Mrs. Connors of Mill street, South Brewer. This morning while Annie was about her duties in the Connors house, Wilson sent a messenger to her with a note. She refused to read or accept it. A few minutes later the door of the Connors house burst open and Wilson rushed in like a mad man. Thinking to be sure of protection the girl ran into the room of the sick woman and cast herself upon the bed. Wilson was close behind. He shot her twice in the hips and then returning to the boarding house shot himself. No inquest was needed. The girl will recover.

WRECKED OFF PORTLAND.

Survivors of Crew of Schooner Waubeek Brought Into Boston.

Boston, October 11.—The Dominion Atlantic line steamship Prince Arthur, which came to her dock at Long wharf from Yarmouth, N. S., this forenoon, brought Captain Edgett and two survivors from the crew of the St. John schooner, or Waubeek, who were rescued from the capsized vessel by men from the Prince Arthur early this morning. Hadley Edgett, son of the captain, steward of the schooner, was lost.

The wreck of the Waubeek was sighted by the chief officer of the Prince Arthur, about seven miles south by east from Eastern Point at 7:15 a. m., and the steamer was ordered alongside. As she approached it was seen that the three men who were clinging to the schooner's hull were lashed in their places and that the sea constantly broke over them. Those on board halted the sailors but they were too weak to respond.

In spite of the boisterous waves and the danger of being driven upon the wreck, a boat took off Captain Edgett and two seamen.

The three shipwrecked men were taken on board the Prince Arthur. They were very weak from exposure and the constant drenching they had received and for a time they could say nothing about the disaster. Later, Captain Edgett, bowed with sorrow, told of the loss of his son Hadley, who was steward on the schooner. The young man was in the cabin when she capsized and nothing could be done to rescue him.

Captain Edgett stated that the Waubeek had brought her cargo of lumber from St. George, N. B., to Quincy safely and was returning to Hillsboro in ballast, when she encountered the recent severe weather.

On Tuesday, when the vessel was about off Portland, she encountered a severe northeasterly gale with a very heavy sea.

At seven o'clock last night the schooner was struck by the tremendous sea and she went over on her port side until her masts laid flat in the water. The captain and two men, the mate and John O'Flaherty, seaman, who were on deck, succeeded in lashing themselves to the main rigging.

[SPECIAL TO THE PRESS.]

Bath, October 11.—The schooner John D. Williams, Captain Pendleton, with 275,000 feet of lumber on board, which came down from South Gardiner tonight, went ashore near Green Cove in Woolwich opposite this city. She was dropping down the river with the tide to get an anchorage when she collided with the Maine Central ferry boat, losing her bowsprit and head gear. Word was sent to this city and at ten o'clock tonight the tug Adella pulled her off and took her to a safe anchorage. She will have to undergo repairs before sailing.

Wheeler's bid on the plumbing was $544, and he took the contract at $330. On the heating his bid was $175, but some better material was ordered and the price was made $350. ATTACK ARRANGED.

The Assault on Gov. Roosevelt at Fort Wayne Was Planned.

Marion, Ind., October 11.—After yesterday's attack on the Roosevelt party at Fort Wayne, Gov. Mount went to Gov. Roosevelt and extended an apology in behalf of the State of Indiana. "Nothing has happened in years," he said, "that gives me so much sorrow as that attack. It was the work of rowdies only and should not be permitted to reflect upon the good Democrats of the town, for they would not countenance such an outrage."

Senator Fairbanks, who made an address at the tent at Fort Wayne, declares that before the stone throwing he was told by a prominent citizen of Fort Wayne, that "there had been a carefully laid plot on the part of the rough element of the Fort Wayne Democracy to break up the meeting as they did in 1894, when Mr. Blaine came here to speak."

"They succeeded then," said the Senator, "but this time they were discovered and warned to desist. On the way to the tent, I was told that not in years had a Republican speaker been permitted to make an address in the vicinity of the tent, but when we got there, we found the tent surrounded by policemen and there was no interference. That there was a plan to interfere with Roosevelt I am assured."

Curtis Guild said he shouted to Governor Roosevelt in whose carriage he was riding, to dodge, when he saw the men raise their arms to throw the stones.

"Just then," he said, "a stone struck him on the shoulder and glanced off and hit me on the hip. Another broke the carriage lamp. But for the quickness with which we were driven from the spot, serious injury might have been inflicted."

Fort Wayne is strongly Democratic and in the crowds shouts for Bryan were more numerous than for Roosevelt.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVORERS.

Meeting of Presumptuous Local Union at Westbrook.

The annual meeting of the Presumptuous local union of Christian Endeavor, comprising unions at Westbrook, Gorham, Windham, Standish and Buxton was held yesterday afternoon and evening at the Westbrook Congregational church. The meeting opened at 9 o'clock with a praise service led by Rev. S. N. Adams, the pastor of the church.

Miss Hattie H. Fies of Gorham, read an interesting paper on "The Christian Endeavor Society's Relation to the Community." The paper of Miss Fies was followed by an address from Rev. F. H. Baker of Bar Mills who spoke of the good that the Endeavor movement is doing for Christ and the Church. The address was inspiring and very helpful throughout.

At the conclusion of the address a brief prayer service was held. Supper was served in the vestry at 5 o'clock to the visiting members and delegates.

The evening session was well attended and was opened with a praise service led by Rev. W. G. Mann, pastor of the Warren Congregational church of Cumberland Mills.

After the praise service the nominating committee through its chairman, Rev. W. G. Mann, presented the following nominations and they were declared elected as officers of the union for the ensuing year: President, Mr. H. M. Skillings, Westbrook; secretary, Mrs. F. H. Baker, Bar Mills; treasurer, Miss Hattie Fies, Gorham.

The roll call of societies showed the Baptist society at South Windham had the largest per cent of their members present at the meeting and they were awarded the silk banner for the ensuing year.

The next number on the programme was a solo by Mrs. Fred Stevens of Westbrook, which was very much enjoyed by all.

Rev. Bowley Green, pastor of the First Baptist church of Portland, proved an interesting speaker, taking for his subject "Christian Heroism." The speaker in brief said that this was not naturally an age of heroism, of hard and self-sacrificing work. The address was divided into three heads, treating of sacrifice, service and faith. The address was intensely interesting and was enjoyed by all, many of the points made by the speaker being keenly felt and appreciated by the audience. The service concluded with a prayer and benediction by Rev. S. N. Adams, the pastor of the church, and the singing of the hymn "God be with you till we meet again."

The story which Mr. Pearson told of Gardiner about frightening off a belligerent rumseller by pointing a spectacle case at him was meant to illustrate, we suppose, the cowardice of the average seafaring man. We have a suspicion that it also illustrates the ingenuity of some people's imaginations.

The Belfast Journal, noting the alleged panic among the rumsellers of Portland and Augusta, remarks that "Mr. Manley's letter is bearing fruit." If Mr. Manley's letters are so potent it is a great pity that he did not write some about twenty-five years ago. Then we should have been spared twenty-five years of law enforcement or no enforcement.

It is not at all likely that the Chinese government will behave any of the prominent men guilty of fomenting the uprising until it ceases to be dominated by the Empress Dowager. It may, to smooth down the powers, promise to behave some of the ringleaders, and may actually behave some persons, but in all probability they will be obscure persons. If the powers want to be sure that the ringleaders have been punished they must stand by and see it done. Statements from the Chinese that it has been done will be of no value.

Governor General Wood denies that he ever said Cuba was a bad country. His opinion is quite the opposite. He believes that Cuba is a splendid country for Americans and affords a good opening for people of the United States who have a little capital. Americans are not, however, likely to embark very extensively in enterprises on the island until they are sure that they will enjoy the protection of a just and stable government. It is upon this that the future prosperity of the island depends more than upon anything else.

Bryan's hopes of carrying Michigan spring from the fact that that state contains a considerable population of Hollanders, who of course deeply sympathize with the Boers and are said to be disappointed because the administration did not interfere in behalf of the South African republic. It is very likely that Mr. Bryan's confidence that they will vote for him will be justified. Yet had Mr. Bryan been President he could have given the Boers no more assistance than Mr. McKinley did. But he is in a position now where he can give the impression, without any danger of having to live up to it, that he could and would, and he is making the most of it with the Hollanders.

CURRENT COMMENT.

PINGREE AND THE CORPORATIONS.

(Boston Advertiser.)

Gov. Pingree of Michigan may be denounced in other sections of the Union as a demagogue, but it is plain enough that in Michigan he is a present potentiality in politics. He is something more than a potato patch politician. Apparently he is a past master in the art of popular appeal, and he seems to have public sentiment very strongly with him in his efforts to amend the Michigan constitution so as to permit of taxing corporations more heavily than is possible under the present laws of Michigan. If Pingree were merely a rabid demagogue, he could not so long control or be supported by public opinion in such a state as Michigan. The chances are that the corporations of that state are largely responsible for whatever befalls them. The average American is not in favor of high-handed methods or of the persecution of any corporation which treats the public fairly and it is safe to say that if Pingree is supported by public opinion in Michigan, that public opinion must be the result of the policies pursued by Michigan corporations.

THE DRIFT OF MR. KINLEY.

(Boston Herald.)

The trend of the conservative voters of the country, which we noted last week as setting strongly toward the support of McKinley, has been since that time steadily on the increase, until it is now taking on something like the proportions of a tidal wave. If it were a part of the policy of Mr. Hanna to have it appear and gain in volume just at this time as it has, the campaign could not have been better managed. The gold Democrats who were going back to Bryan went in a body months ago, and their tale has become an old story. As election day approaches, the others are declaring themselves, and there is nothing left to affect the weight and the importance of their numbers. But the cause of this, we think, is deeper than any political management. It is the spontaneous outcome of reasoning and reflection. Some of us reached this position much earlier, but it was sure to come to the rest before election day. It is coming now with a rush.

John Ernest McCann has been making a study of Rufus Choate's sentences and of his wonderful vocabulary. He finds one sentence containing 710 words and another containing 1319 words. The marvel is that these sentences, like the "seven by nine" sentences of DeQuincy, are as clear as a brook and brilliant as a star. "Rufus Choate stands second only to Shakespeare in wealth of vocabulary. Shakespeare uses 15,000 unrepented words and Rufus Choate 11,633. The expression of thought applied to matter—'Gifted with words so apt to fitly thought'—applies also to Rufus Choate.

The only royal lady in Europe to hold the degree of M. D. is the consort of the King of Portugal. She was the Princess Amelia of Orleans and was born at Orleans House, Twickenham. Her education was begun in the beautiful Middlesex village, but in later years scientific pursuits occupied her mind, and before her marriage she had obtained the medical degree.

PROTECTION FOR SCHOOL HOUSES.

ES.

To the Editor of the Press:

Three different times within a year, the undersigned has urged upon the members of the city government the importance of fire protection in the school buildings of this city, and one year ago this month, in the editorial column of the PRESS, you stated as follows: "The proposal made by Councilman Dyer in the city council, is one that should receive more than passing notice at the hands of the city fathers. It is one to protect the school houses of this city with chemical fire extinguishers. While of little moment in the matter of the amount of damage that will be done, the time may come when it will amount to more than the expenditure of even an exceedingly large sum of money. If a fire and a panic should be saved in one of our school buildings, once in a generation, the cost incurred would be as nothing while the added confidence of the parents in the safety of their children when at school, is a matter well worth considering."

You are right, Mr. Editor, and yesterday the parochial school on Gray street of this city was saved from a serious fire by a chemical extinguisher.

The public buildings committee have deemed it wise and prudent to place chemical extinguishers in our city hall building with its iron stairways and where principally adults are assembled from time to time, but, as yet, they have not deemed it wise and prudent to place chemical extinguishers in the school buildings of this city with their wooden flights of stairs, where little children are congregated, some of them upon the third floor of these buildings. Let us hope that the honorable members of the aldermanic board of this city will act promptly in this matter of better protection against fire, and the probable loss of life which would ensue in such case before our city has a suit upon its hands for culpable negligence.

Respectfully yours,
HERBERT S. DYER.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by inflammation of the mucous lining of the Eustachian tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a running ear, which, if not cured, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; in cases out of often are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of mucous surface.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

MR. FRED AMES,

UNIVERSALIST Y. P. C. U.

The Convention at All Souls' Church.

Suggestions for Advancement of the Society.

Rev. Mr. Knickerbocker Discusses Prohibition.

Mr. Harry S. Vose of Waterville Chosen President.

The second day's convention of the Maine Universalist Young People's Christian Union convened yesterday morning at All Souls' Universalist church of Morrill.

The session opened at 7.30 o'clock with a "Quiet Hour" service, led by Mrs. Marlon H. Leslie of Waterville, the subject being "Choosing a Master." The regular session of the convention opened at nine o'clock, acting President H. S. Vose of Waterville, presiding. The opening prayer was offered by Rev. W. W. Hooper of Deering Center, the state missionary of the denomination.

The first half hour of the session was devoted to the interests of a junior congress, conducted by Mrs. Olive M. Kimball of Turner Center, the state superintendent. Mrs. Kimball explained the work of the junior union, saying that practically it was a part of the senior union so far as its plan of work is concerned.

Mrs. Winship of Lewiston spoke on the question of securing a good average attendance at the meetings. The method in use by the junior union at Lewiston is the star roll, containing the names of the young people. If present a star is placed opposite their name. Miss Georgia Bradley of Portland of the Church of the Messiah, spoke of the marking system. This system includes the giving of four marks, one each for attendance, reciting a verse of scripture, committing verses of scripture to memory, and for decorum.

Rev. E. H. Chapin answered the question as to whether or not the junior union work interferes with the Sunday school. The speaker advanced the idea that the union is a great help. Miss Abbie Trefethen of Portland spoke on the matter of cultivating a spirit of reverence among the children. The speaker said that the spirit of reverence could best be shown by the junior superintendent, and by the general attitude and decorum of the senior members.

The business session of the convention was next resumed. The committee on finance through Miss E. Louise Fernald, reported having audited the books and reports of the secretary and treasurer and found the same correct. The committee on reports and recommendations was made by Rev. J. M. Atwood. The report included the following recommendations: The renewal of the pledge of loyalty to the central union and promise of support in its work; the continuance of the several departments of work of the state union; that more time be allowed the junior work on the programme of the state convention; that each union contribute one dollar during the year to be divided between the state and central unions; that Christian Citizenship Sunday be observed each year when possible, and that greater efforts be made to secure better citizenship; that Mr. Fred S. Rand be appointed as transportation agent to arrange for rates, etc., to the next national convention; that appeals for aid be made to the executive committee instead of the convention; that the amount of the per capita assessed be referred to the executive committee; that the sum of $100 be appropriated for state missionary work, the money to be expended by the direction of the executive committee; that the publishing of the quarterly paper, the Christian Union Worker, be continued, and that $35 be appropriated for this purpose; that the members of the unions do what they can to secure endowment and pupils for Westbrook seminary. The several recommendations were considered separately and adopted without much discussion.

The talk on the Y. P. C. U. Atlanta convention which was omitted on Wednesday, was next given by Rev. J. M. Atwood of Portland, who spoke very interestingly on the interest and enthusiasm of the national convention.

Mr. Atwood said there was one thing to be regretted, and that was the meager reports given by the southern press. He said that the prospects for the future growth of the denomination in the South were much brighter than ever before, and that the erection of a church by the Y. P. C. U. of the country at Atlanta, Georgia, which was dedicated at the time of the national convention marked an epoch in the life and history of the denomination.

Mrs. Olive M. Kimball the state superintendent of junior work, was called to the front and in a few well chosen words presented the silk banner purchased by the senior unions of the state to be presented to the junior union making the largest per cent of gain in membership during the past year. Mrs. Kimball awarded the banner to the junior union at Lewiston. Mrs. M. Cora Winship the superintendent of the Lewiston union, accepted the banner in a brief but appropriate speech of acceptance and assured the convention that the Lewiston juniors would appreciate the banner and strive to retain it another year.

The committee on resolutions presented the following resolution, which were unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That we learn with sorrow of the illness of Miss Annie H. Stevens, a worker in state and national work, and that we extend to her sympathy, and hope for a speedy recovery.

Resolved, That whereas there is a tendency among the youth of the state to disregard law, and recognizing a movement has been made for a better enforcement of all law, therefore be it resolved that the Y. P. C. U. lend its support to the efforts being made to bring about a higher standard of morals and the better enforcement of law.

Resolved, That we express our loyalty to the church in general and pledge anew our allegiance to the church and its upbuilding, particularly in this state.

Resolved, That the thanks of the convention are due the retiring president, Mr. W. H. Lowe, and his co-workers, for their sacrifices and labors in our behalf during the past two years.

Resolved, That the members of the convention are due the members of All Souls' church and parish for their generous entertainment and hospitality, to the railroad for courtesies extended, and to the press of Portland for full and comprehensive reports of the convention.

The morning session adjourned just before noon.

The following officers and delegates were in attendance at yesterday's convention: President, William H. Lowe, Lewiston; vice president, Harry S. Vose, Waterville; secretary, Miss Abbie C. Trefethen, Portland; treasurer, Fred S. Rand, Lewiston; executive committee, Mary E. Beal, Bangor; Clara B. Varney, Portland; Mary E. Briggs, superintendent of junior work; Mrs. Olive M. ## AFTERNOON SESSION.

The afternoon session of the convention opened at two o'clock with a song service led by Miss Kate G. Knight of Woodford.

The first half hour of the afternoon was devoted to a senior congress, conducted by Rev. H. A. Markley of Skowhegan. The topic under consideration was "Ways and Means of Promoting Union Work." Rev. C. A. Hayden of Augusta spoke on social work and methods of raising money. The method adopted by the Augusta union is by holding entertainments, etc. The Bangor union reported having profited largely by a flower sale.

A delegate from Dexter spoke on the methods of Christian work in their union.

Work in other states was discussed in a letter written by Miss Lizzie Greenhalgh of Rockland and read by Rev. E. H. Chapin.

The report was confined principally to Massachusetts and spoke of song services held at the soldiers home, the establishment of fresh air fund, and the supplying of flowers for hospitals, the distribution of literature of the denomination, and the giving of free trolley rides to children of the poor.

The question of "Christian Citizenship" was next considered. A paper on the subject written by Rev. Mr. Canfield of Dover, read by Rev. Miss Blanche Wright. The writer brought out the idea that the union members can work for law and enforcement. The young people can unite in asking for the enforcement of law against the gambling saloon and bucket shops, Sunday excursions and Sunday newspapers. The writer suggested that as good Universalists they should refrain from reading Sunday papers, and to strive for the better observance of Sunday.

Rev. C. A. Knickerbocker of Auburn was the next speaker. Rev. Mr. Knickerbocker in his remarks said that the liquor problem cannot be solved in less than a generation. "What can we practically do as young people?" asked the speaker. "We can live righteous lives, strong in Christian thought and action. We can't make the world over in a minute," said Mr. Knickerbocker. "The same mistaken idea has always been held in regard to reform movements. The question is what can we do now. The young people of the unions can do a great deal to strengthen the church. Reforms must come out of individual consecration. Young people should not be deprived of the privilege of work in the flower mission, fresh air and other departments, these are all important as they all point in the direction of civic righteousness, and to help build up humanity."

"The trouble is that the conscience of the state of Maine is being debauched by hypocrisy which makes a farce of the enforcement of the Maine liquor law. (Applause.) What is needed is individual consecration, which will count for a better Christian and moral character."

Rev. J. F. Rhoades of Fairfield, spoke on what to do to gain members for the union. The sum of Mr. Rhoades' remarks were to the effect that the members of the union should have a love for something and somebody and believe thoroughly in it, and in that way something will be accomplished.

At the conclusion of the discussion Mr. Louis Anrin Ames of New York, president of the central union, having arrived in the church was escorted to the front of the church and introduced to the convention. Mr. Ames was greeted by a hearty round of applause, and it was some two minutes before he could secure silence sufficient to allow him to proceed. Mr. Ames spoke very briefly, assuring his auditors that he had been forty-five hours on the water, having been a passenger on the New York steamer, anchored at Chatham, Mass. because of the storm, and was glad once again to get on terra firma. Mr. Ames was very happy in his remarks and assured his hearers that he was sorry to disappoint the convention at a time when expected for an address.

Rev. W. J. Taylor of Lewiston, spoke on "Our Duty to Onward" the Young People's Christian Union paper. Mr. Taylor urged the need of a more loyal support of the denominational paper.

Dr. Charles S. Knight of Bangor read an interesting paper on "Our Young People's Society: Its value to Us, Our Obligations to It." The paper of Dr. Knight was very helpful and full of suggestions. The main thought was that the union is the nursery of the church and that as individuals its members owed the same allegiance, as to home and native land.

The committee on reports of officers recommended that a deeper interest be taken in the young people's paper "Onward," and efforts made to increase its circulation.

Several amendments were offered by the committee to the constitution, action on which will be taken at the next annual meeting which is to be held at Rockland.

The nominating committee then submitted the following report and the officers as named were declared elected:

President—Mr. Harry S. Vose, Waterville.

Vice President—Mr. Guy Small, Orono.

Secretary—Miss Abbie C. Trefethen, Congress Square church, Portland.

Treasurer—Mr. Fred S. Rand, Lewiston.

Executive Committee—Miss Mary Briggs, Auburn; Miss Marlon Harlow, Augusta; Mrs. Olive M. Kimball, Turner Center; Rev. I. J. Mead of Boston, Mass., addressed the delegates briefly, speaking of visits to the New Hampshire Connecticut, Massachusetts and New York conventions during the past few weeks.

Rev. Mr. Mead spoke very encouragingly of the work in these states, and said that it gave him a great deal of satisfaction to once again meet with the young people of Maine, and to learn of their progress.

Adjournment was made at five o'clock.

In the evening at 7.30 o'clock the services commenced with a song service, followed by an inspiring sermon by Rev. F. E. Barton of Bethel on convention thoughts and inspirations.

Central President Louis Anrin Ames of New York spoke briefly on the aims and general work being done by the young people throughout the country. Mr. Ames is a forcible speaker and left a very pleasing impression with his auditors. The closing of the convention was devoted to a communion service, with Rev. E. H. Chapin of Rockland and Rev. F. T. Nelson of East Eddington at the table. The services concluded with the singing of the hymn "God be with you till we meet again."

MORRILLS.

At the Universalist parsonage of All Souls' church, Wednesday evening, the pastor, Rev. S. G. Davis, joined in marriage Mr. Charles K. Sweet of Canton, Me., and Miss Annie Sweet of Somersworth, N. H.

Mr. John M. Rounds, the Deering superintendent of the Westbrook Electric Light company and a crew of men repaired the damage to the lights in All Souls' Universalist church yesterday afternoon.

Tuesday night a fuse burned out and that one of the visiting ministers repaired the damage by inserting a copper fuse. The lights were restored Tuesday evening, but near the close of the services Wednesday evening, the lights disappeared again. Mr. Rounds says that it was a remarkable thing that no damage was done to the church on account of the use of this copper fuse which is considered very dangerous. The usual result of using a copper fuse is to burn out the wires and set fire to the building, but in this particular case there was no damage to the church, but the wires in the transformer on a pole on the opposite side of the street from the church were burned out, thus causing a total failure of the lights the latter part of Wednesday evening, as above stated.

The electricians in making these fuses use a fusible wire made for the purpose.

Bookkeeper tribe of Red Men is to confer the Chief's degree at the meeting this evening. A supper is to be served after the meeting.

THE FORT PREBLE FOOT BALL TEAM.

The Fort Preble foot ball team put up a good game at Bangor against the U. of M. boys when we consider that they had just come out of several hard fought games and had to get off their crutches and take their arms out of slings in order to meet their engagement in Bangor. On a return match when the "soldier boys" round into good form the result is likely to be different. In any event the game will be more evenly contested.

MUSIC AND DRAMA.

THE KATZENJAMMER KIDS.

An exchange in speaking of the performance of "The Katzenjammer Kids" headed by the Blondells, says: "The Blondells give one of the most unique and indescribably funny performances ever presented, the entertainment being exciting and exhilarating. Bertin, Leonora Wilson, Mamie Morgan, Floeste Hill, Fannie Kirby, May Smith, Harold Schultz, and Jerome and Alexis all aided materially in making the farce one of the most hilarious seen here in many a day. The Katzenjammer Kids will appear at the Portland theatre commencing Monday, October 15 for three nights.

NAUGHTY ANTHONY.

The Boston Record says concerning David Belasco's "Naughty Anthony," which will be seen at the Jefferson Monday and Tuesday next:

It has all the elements and, one must confess, many of the situations that characterized the successful comedies of the past. All the world loves a triumphant, unmalicious rogue. To see the keen witted extricate himself from the troublesome situations and make gulls of the stupid flatters every seer. It will not do to look too deep for a moral. It is all a jest, and one hypocrite befolding the rest in fair game.

MUSIC AND DRAMA.

"Naughty Anthony" is a professor of moral culture, who has yielded to the fascination of Cora, a hosiery model, and kissed her in the park. It chances that the park board is "down" on kissing. The professor is caught by an officer. He gives the name of his landlord, and the fun of the play is over his attempts to save both himself and the unlucky landlord from the determination of the park board to prosecute the offender.

SAN FRANCISCO MINSTRELS.

Black face comedy follows drama at Portland Theatre, as the San Francisco Minstrels are to be the attraction at Manager Rounds's house the rest of the week, beginning this evening. In mentioning the special features on the programme of this minstrel combination, an exchange remarked: "La Moore, the contortionist, was a wonder. As a female impersonator, DeForest West cannot be beaten. Hugh McVey, the club swinger and cane manipulator, was wonderful, and the acrobatic performance and boxing match given by Cedaire and Edmonds was enthusiastically received by the audience. The evening passed all too quickly."

WM. J. RYAN'S BENEFIT.

Referring to the Tremont Quartette, which will appear at W. J. Ryan's benefit concert, Oct. 17, the Worcester (Mass.) Gazette says:

"Encores were the rule rather than the exception, and after the sixth number on the programme the quartette was called out three times in succession before the audience was satisfied. The singers responded with good grace to these demands, and kept their auditors in good humor. The quartette showed remarkable ability in individual singing, and the many difficult parts which were brought out last evening were rendered with surprising skill and unity of action."

THE ROUNDERS.

Next Wednesday and Thursday one of America's leading comedians, Thomas Q. Sealbrooke in the big comic opera success, "The Rounders," will be seen at the Jefferson. This is the production that last season won a run of over two hundred nights at the New York Casino, and nearly as long at the Columbia, Boston. It is an adaptation of "Les Fetards," a French lyrical novelty by Mars and Henneguin. Harry B. Smith wrote the American version, and Ludwig Klingender composed the score.

NOTES.

The New York Dramatic Mirror says: Lillian Havell has been ordered by a Circuit Court to pay her notes for $5,369.06, held by Fayette Smith, father of her divorced husband, Royal Stone Smith, representing sums advanced during her musical tuition. After divorce she contended that there was no consideration for notes, but the Court thought otherwise, as she is said to be able to earn $10,000 a year.

It has been reported that Madame Calve will give up the opera for the drama, because of the unattractiveness of grand opera. It is this very unattractiveness of opera that keeps so many people from appreciating music.

Ida Conquest and Olive May are both admirable in the very girly-girly parts of Richard Carvel. Miss Conquest, whom all remember as the calm-eyed, clear-voiced young woman secretary of the "Myriad," has given us an entirely new illustration of herself in the teasing, laughing Dorothy. She is a splendidly careful and unobtrusive girl, and with the exception of a certain Rehanesque, Irvingque hitch, breaks no new ground or high note in her voice that seems a little bit like an affectation, she is simple natural and sweet.

Alga Nethercole sailed from England on Thursday to open at Wallack's Theatre on Nov. 12, in Sapho and Maecia.

Richard Mansfield, in an article entitled "My Audience—and Myself," that appeared in last week's issue of "Colliers' Weekly," describes vividly the impression that the assemblage in front of the footlights makes upon the man behind them. The written lines disclose the keenest sensitiveness on Mr. Mansfield's part, and set forth many emotions often felt by players but rarely expressed by them.

Daniel Frohman's Stock company is rehearsing a new play by Abby Sage Richardson. Mr. Frohman and Mr. Richardson are supervising the rehearsals in Cleveland last week.

Madame Butterfly and Naughty Anthony had a good week at the Museum in Boston. Every one praised the former and several critics lauded the latter, but the business has been satisfactory.

Sarah Bernhardt and M. Coquelin have announced that they will soon give a benefit in Paris for the Galveston sufferers. Frederick Ward has appeared at many Southern benefits for this worthy cause.

The gross receipts of the Passion Play at Oberammergau last summer are reported as having reached $300,000, while from all sources the simple-minded villagers received about $1,000,000 from visitors.

While playing in Northern Lights with the Grand Opera House Stock company, Pittsburgh, Oct. 9, Thelma W. Jones shot himself in the chest with a revolver supposed to be loaded with blank cartridges, that he was using in his role. He was taken to a hospital.

The Pavilion theatre in Brooklyn continues in daily proof of the proverb that it is the unexpected that happens, and in demonstration thereof points to a series of afternoon performances with every seat occupied, while at night even the standing room is exhausted long before the rising of the curtain.

At last the list of artists positively engaged for Mr. Grau's season is announced. Jean de Reszke and Melba are coming, but Calve, Eames and Nordica will be among the missing. Madame Brevet, the French prima donna, will be heard in America for the first time, and Terina, Gadek, Schumann-Held, Van Dyck, Dippel, Salza, Scotti, Campanari, Bispham, Edouard de Reszke and Pianco will return. As usual, there are to be no novelties in the repertoire, although couple of revivals are contemplated that are next door to new.

OUT AFTER THE STORM.

A Few Coasters Venture North—Experiences of Andrew Heselbine on Californian Last Winter.

The clearing weather of yesterday afternoon was gladly welcomed all along the water front; and in marine circles everybody hoped that at least after four days of about as disagreeable a rain storm as has ever prevailed on the Maine coast the changed conditions had come to stay for several days at least. The coasters Sunset, White Foam, Mand S., Pendleton and Walter Holmes decided to take chances and left Wigwag's wharf at which they have been tied up since last week. Fish became all the more scarce for another day passed by without any being brought in. At Trefethen's on Commercial wharf it was stated that none would probably be brought into the Portland market until the first of next week. The tug Knickerbocker arrived and had in tow the bark Arthur C. Wade, which she had brought from the Kennebec.

At a few minutes past two o'clock the steamer Manhattan arrived from New York. "We had a very rough and hard trip," said one of the crew. "On Tuesday night we left New York at the usual time and the weather looked fair at that time. But soon afterwards a fierce rain storm came up. This increased all of the time so that at seven o'clock yesterday morning we anchored at Bass River, near Nantucket, and remained there up to midnight last night when we resumed our trip to Portland. From that time out the rain was very heavy and the wind blew a gale all of the time." The steamer brought fifteen passengers and a large freight.

The new officials who have been promoted in the customs service, Messrs. Grover, Tobie and Heselbine are receiving the congratulations of their friends. Each of these three officials is popular and Collector Moses could not have made better selections. Mr. Heselbine, is the youngest man of the lot, and is one of the most competent officials in the service. He is well remembered as the one official who was assigned to take charge of the wreck of the disabled steamer Californian last winter. At that time the weather was the coldest of the season and there was not a particle of fire in the big steamship. But Mr. Heselbine remained at his post of duty for a stretch of three weeks, coming ashore not more than two or three times. He went ahead, adapted himself to circumstances and never a word of complaint was heard from him. In speaking of this instance yesterday one of the leading officials at the custom house said that Mr. Heselbine managed to keep comfortable by pulling over his body a couple of ulsters, eight or nine reefers, three or four leather coats, four pairs of woolen stockings and a pair of rubber boots that extended up to his waist. These extensive preparations which Mr. Heselbine made for his sojourn on the Californian at that time and the constant attention to business after he had once landed on the wrecked ocean liner elicited very favorable comment from all of the officials at the custom house. Mr. Heselbine will probably assume his new duties within a few days.

LETTER FROM MR. EMERY.

To the Editor of the Press:

I see that the report of the Grand Lodge I. O. G. T. public meeting held in Gardiner last evening made me say that I had closed all of the saloons in Sanford in spite of the officers being against me. I did not say so, but distinctly said that our county attorney said that he would press every case brought to his attention and as a result of this he had been able to close the saloons of Sanford. I gave several cases where we had been able to close saloons but did not claim that they had all been closed, for as a matter of fact they have not.

Very respectfully,
Fred C. Emery.
Sanford, October 11, 1900.

NEW BILLIARD ROOM.

The Colonial Parlors Opened in Baxter Block.

The Colonial Billiard parlors, the finest and most luxuriously equipped resort of its kind in the country, will be opened to the public on Monday, October 15. L. D. Mathis, the proprietor of the resort, needs no introduction to Portland, and the patrons of the sport know that every promise he makes will be fulfilled to the letter. Everybody knows what a success the Palace Billiard hall has been. The fourth largest place of its kind in the world has from time to time turned patrons from its doors. The best of order has at all times been maintained and through the establishment of this institution the fascinating, genteel games of pool and billiards have been greatly elevated here.

The public, however, has demanded of Mr. Mathis another establishment. Frequent requests have been made that he open a hall where ladies may spend the afternoons and evenings and become proficient in the game, and at the same time enjoy an hour or two. To satisfy this demand the new place has been prepared, and in its furnishings nothing has been left undone that would add to the comfort of the guests, their convenience and lend anything to the attractiveness and beauty of the surroundings.

A PRESS reporter visited the parlors, which are located on the fourth floor of the Baxter block, facing Congress street, and accessible by the elevator. A gang of workmen was busily engaged and considerable finishing had yet to be accomplished in order to have all things ready for next Monday. However, there was enough to give those interested an idea of the magnificence of the parlors and their appearance.

There are three rooms in the suite. The main parlor will be for general use. The tables will be the best that money can buy. Overhead are located three large electroluxes with light sufficient for the most scientific games, and along the sides are electric brackets, so that the illumination will be all that is desired.

The main room is a marvel for the elegance of its furnishings, the artistic being constantly in the foreground. Superb Wilton covers the floor, the tables, settees, chairs and lounges are of solid mahogany, to match all of which a special cue rack is now being built and will be in position when the place is formally opened. Rich and expensive curtains, portieres and draperies have been hung, and the walls are dressed with appropriate works of art. Potted plants and large palms in well selected places give an air of beauty to the room.

The ladies' reception parlor which is on the left of the main parlor (and faces Congress street, is a gem in its furnishings. Dainty jardiniere and bric-a-brac form a part of the fixtures of this cozy corner. The furniture is of the finest, the lace curtains are suspended before the windows and art pictures and plants give color to the room. There will be no smoking permitted here, so that ladies with their escorts who retire to this corner for a chat between games, or to await for a vacant table will be assured quiet and comfort.

A private parlor opens from the ladies' room. Here too, one of the best tables will be stationed and will be for the sole use of private parties, who wish to spend the evening together. Lights, furnishings, convenience and location all combine to make the Colonial a strictly fashionable resort, where no one need hesitate to call for a game of billiards or pool. Courteous treatment is assured all.

As an attraction for the opening day, Mr. Mathis has arranged two games, one to be called at three o'clock in the afternoon, and the other at eight o'clock at night, between Mr. Fred Ames, the champion of New England, and Mr. Moses Yatter, the ex-champion. These men are not ordinary pool players. Between them they have held the champion-

THE LIQUOR AGENCY.

How the City and State Sell Rum.

At One Time Portland Had An Enormous Business.

That Was When Law Was Enforced.

Good Times in Prospect So City Officials Believe.

Now that there seems to be a prospect that the city of Portland may be dry for the next two years, interest returns to the city's liquor agency where the good people of Portland may purchase pure liquors for medicinal and mechanical purposes when other sources of supply are cut off. This agency is operated under the act empowering cities and towns to run such liquor agencies and it is managed by the city council or a committee appointed from that body for the purpose. Here is always kept in stock a fine assortment of liquors and wines and they are sold at a slight advance on the price charged by the state agent and are guaranteed pure and strictly as represented. The applicant for liquor is required to give the name, occupation, place of residence, and to swear to the use which he intends to make of the liquor obtained. If this use is not for medicinal or mechanical purposes the applicant does not get the liquor. Most people who apply for liquor at the city agency need it for some such purpose so they affirm, and unless the agent believes that they are not dealing with him in making these statements the goods are not delivered.

Many of the applicants for the purchase of liquor at the city agency are women and the stimulants they purchase are usually bought for sick persons on the recommendation of physicians. Some of the city's most influential and respectable citizens are patrons of this agency and of course their veracity as to the use they intend to make of the liquor they buy is never questioned. They are all required to submit to the same forms whether known or unknown as are the men and women who come there strangers to the agent.

Mr. Charles C. Douglass, the present liquor agent is a very careful man and is very much respected and liked by those who have occasion to visit the city's agency. He finds it necessary on occasion to refuse liquors to some people whom he suspects of not requiring liquor for the purpose which they state they require it for, but in refusing these people he does it in such a manner that they bear him no ill will.

In past years the returns to the city from the sale of liquor have been very large. The figures of the receipts of the liquor agency during the past ten years are interesting and the following are the figures given to a PRESS reporter yesterday by the city auditor:

1891-92,	67,833.30
1892-93,	79,410.82
1893-94,	43,791.75
1894-95,	38,167.28
1895-96,	18,025.00
1896-97,	14,387.80
1897-98,	12,015.40
1898-99,	11,322.50
1899-1900,	9,742.80

These figures are given from March 31st of one year to March 31st of the following year. It will be seen that during the administration of Sheriff Crane when the prohibitory law was strictly and rigidly enforced the sales at the liquor agency mounted up to $76,000 in round numbers for one year. As the enforcement became less rigid and more places were found where liquor could be purchased the receipts at the agency fell off year by year and as more places were opened the receipts constantly fell off until it reached a figure eight times smaller than it was during the rigid enforcement of the liquor law. Last year the assistant to the liquor agent was discharged by the committee on agency and for the first time in the history of the liquor agency it was found necessary for the committee having this agency in charge to apply to the committee on estimates for a small appropriation to enable the committee to pay its bills. Now that the rum shops are to be all closed up the city expects to make more money out of its rum business than it has for the past eight or nine years.

The office and store room of the state liquor agency has been located in Portland for the last five years, being moved here from Bucksport, the home of Hon. Pascal P. Gilmore, the predecessor of Hon. James W. Wakefield, the present incumbent. Its first location in Portland was at 38 Union street, but for the last four years it has been at 88 Union street, in quarters that are large and ample. Commissioner Wakefield keeps the books of the office at his home in Bath, but visits Portland very often and thus is always in close touch with the business of the agency. His assistant is Mr. Joseph M. Riddon, who also served in that capacity during the administration of Mr. Gilmore.

The state agency is maintained for the distinct purpose of supplying the cities and towns of the state that are authorized by the legislature to sell intoxicating liquors for medicinal and mechanical purposes. There are about 15 or 20 of these cities and towns. In order that the purposes of these agencies may not be abused the statutes provide that ten or more citizens may enter complaint to any justice of the supreme court against the policy of conducting an agency. Upon this complaint the justice shall order a hearing, and if the verdict of this hearing shall substantiate the charges that have been brought, the agency shall be closed and the right of dispensing liquors revoked.

The most of the liquors that are in supply at the state agency are bought in Boston and are brought to Portland on the Boston steamers. The remainder of the supply is obtained in New York. These liquors comprise alcohol, whiskies, rums, gins, brandies, wines and beers. The largest quality is that of alcohol and whiskey, there being about an equal amount of each of these two classes. Arrangements are always provided so that there shall be a stock on hand of the value from $5,000 to $10,000. For all of the liquors sold by the state agency to the city and town agencies a price is charged that is 10 per cent of that paid by the state agency to the distilleries. Out of this profit the agent is paid his salary of $1,500 a year and a part of the rest of the profits are appropriated for the salary of the assistant and the running expenses of the department. The remainder is turned over to the state treasury. The liquor sales from the agency to the cities and towns last year amounted to about $40,000. When the state agency was first instituted the state agent received a commission of 7 per cent on all sales made.

All of the intoxicants sent out from the state agency are analyzed by Prof. F. C. Robinson of Bowdoin college, who has for several years been the state assayer. As soon as any of the liquors reach Portland, Assistant Riddon takes a sample of the kind and sends it to Prof. Robinson. If Prof. Robinson finds that the liquors are not pure they are at once returned by the agency to the points from which secured. The state agent buys all of the liquors on the strict condition that if on inspection they shall be found to be impure they shall be returned to Boston at the expense of the sellers. At least twice every year Prof. Robinson calls at the town agencies to examine the stock and see that it has not been doctored in any way by the agents since he made his first examination. At the city agencies Prof. Robinson is liable to make a call at any time.

MUST PAY CASH AT JOHNSON &amp; LAMBERT'S.

Commencing next Monday, Johnson & Lambert, the Wilmot street grocers, will establish a cash system whereby all of their customers will have to settle weekly instead of on the longer credits that have been given many in the past. They give as a reason for this new rule that the wholesalers now require cash in ten days whereas in old times they were more easy with the retailers. With this short credit for their goods they find it harder to carry large accounts on their books and they will hereafter ask all of their customers to pay each week before a new account is started. Of course prompt payments will enable them to sell goods on smaller margins so that really the customer will be benefited in the long run by this rule.

"I take peculiarly ungraceful, non-stylish figures (of women) and gently, comfortably but surely mold them into grace and shapeliness."

"You do? And who may you be, pray?"

"I am 'HER MAJESTY'S' Corset to be sure."

"Wear me a year, and you cannot break me over the hip."

"Can't break who over the hip?"

"Me, 'HER MAJESTY'S' Corset, of course."

"A Million American Women, and an army of Women-of-Europe are wearing me, with great comfort, convenience and satisfaction."

"Her Majesty's Corset again?"

"Certainly, moreover, I am so perfectly constructed and so nicely adjusted that when I am old, and ragged my SHAPE is as perfect as the newest, crispest pair in the box."

"Modest in your claims, aren't you?"

"Not especially modest, but absolutely truthful."

Oliver Wendall Holmes wrote:

"Little of all we value here,
Lives to behold its one hundredth year,
Without both feeling and looking queer.
In fact there's nothing that keeps it's youth,
That I know of save a Tree and Truth."

If Oliver had written twenty years later, after I was born he might have added to his last line "And Her Majesty's Corset."

"But aren't you just a bit expensive?"

"Possibly, but you know Gold is worth more than Silver, and Porter-house-steak out-ranks Liver every where (except among Cats.)"

Then and Now.

Four,—maybe five years ago we began selling "Her Majesty's" Corsets. Timidly at first, for although from the first, we saw its merits, the price was somewhat more than that of many excellent stays.
